"SWEETHEART" CEREMONY FOR WGM

All officers march into the room and form a heart as follows: (this ceremony was used in a neighboring chapter room with regular officers in their stations.)

As they stand in this position, one of the officers sings the chorus of "Will You Remember" by Sigmund Romberg. As she sings this song, the W. M. and the W.P. come in from the ante-room and walk directly east till they get to a point where they can cut the heart diagonally like an arrow. (The WP may carry an arrow). This they do and cross to the north marching line, where they continue to the East. They get there as the soloist finishes the chorus.

The W.M. presents the gift to the WGM with the following poem:

"Did you hear of cupid wearing a tux?
I never saw one who wore this much.
But our Chief ----(name of patron), both tried and true
Turned Cupid to bring our gift to you.
He lost his bow in an Indian fight
But 3 days' search brought this arrow to light.

And so -- L---- Chapter bring you this comb and brush
You can always use them when in a rush
Or on your visits both near and far
As our love goes with you wherever you are.

As the W.M. finishes the poem, the organist strikes a chord and all the officers stand in their places and sing the chorus of "Goodnight Sweetheart, I's time to Go" by the McGuire Sisters. Just as they finish the "bridge" of the song, they turn reluctantly and march out by completing the heart formation, squaring the altar and going altar's width to the west marching line, where each line turns and goes out the same door they came in. The W.M. and W.P. follow the A.M. and A.P.
