WORTHY MATRON'S INCOMING ADDRESS

No. 2

It is with great pleasure I accept the privilege of being Worthy Matron of this chapter, and in all humility will strive to merit this honor you have conferred upon me.

I shall earnestly strive to make this coming year a peaceful and harmonious one. Knowing so well the loyalty and cooperation you have given my predecessors, I'm sure we will continue to accomplish many things for the glory and honor of this wonderful order.

If we would be true to our teachings in thought, words and actions, we must study the true meanings and lessons of the lives of our five heroines, and have a complete understanding of their many virtues. This will enable us to be true Eastern Stars and we will glorify our Father which is in Heaven. What is more beautiful than loving service and true friendship as we journey through the labyrinth of human life?

Let us be more than willing to give to one another kind words of appreciation, and if constructive criticism is needed, first let us search our own hearts and if necessary give this criticism in a most humble manner. Jesus saith: "And why beholdest thou the mote that is in thy brother's eye, but perceivest not the beam that is in thine own eye."

May this coming year abound with faith, truth, and loving kindness.

We know not what for us the morrow bringeth. But this we know: Jesus walks by our side. Come joy, come sorrow, we know He careth, So let's trust Him and no harm can betide. Look upward until faith gives place to vision. The glory of our Lord, we then shall see, A blessing to all mankind be our mission. And we shall walk by His side eternally.
