WORTHY MATRON: This is one of the happiest nights in the year of any Worthy Matron and Worthy Patron. Tonight we honor those Past Officers, whose efforts, plans and dreams have made us what we are today. Worthy Patron, I know you have a word to say.

WORTHY PATRON: I do have. Past Officers, you have truly given us a glorious heritage. Year by year you have served with zeal and enthusiasm, and we who follow strive to do as well. If we can continue to climb the ladder of success that you set for us, then our future is assured.

WORTHY MATRON: You added so much to our memories fair, That the joys of our evening tonight we would share. That we may show some of our delight, Please rise, Past Officers here tonight.

WORTHY MATRON: Sisters Marshal and Conductress, you will present these Past Matrons and Past Patrons in the West for introduction. (Name of Chapter and Year of Service. Also, their officer whom they served with and any other happening that is special.)

WORTHY MATRON: From our East, where you, in years gone by, served so graciously and so courageously, we honor you tonight. We're proud that you each have served a measure, Your presence, as always, adds to our pleasure.
